City Ordinance to Stop Unloading of Tank Cars Beaten

F. E. Wilkerson Wins Out in Contest Before the City Council

DISCUSS LIGHT RATE

J. A. Sullivan Presents Petition for Reduction—New Board Created

F. E. Wilkerson, Shreveport independent oil operator, won a victory in the city council Tuesday night when the aldermen defeated an ordinance which aimed to prohibit him from unloading tank cars of gasoline at his new station at Third and Elm streets.

Tuesday night's session of the council was made spectacular by verbal clashes between Mr. Wilkerson and E. F. McFaddin, attorney for other local oil men who asked that the ordinance be passed.

The council also heard a petition by J. A. Sullivan, Steve Carrigan and others, asking that the proposed purchase of a $40,000 new generator for the municipal light plant be postponed, and that part of the $30,000 reserve fund accumulated for the purchase be used to reduce light and water charges to the consumers.

Although the council had previously authorized the purchase, and their action had been vetoed by Mayor John Vesey, no vote was taken to override the veto, owing to the discovery that plant and equipment purchases in a city of the first class must be made with the approval of a board of public affairs, comprising two private citizens and the mayor.

Such a board had been named some time ago, but the nominees failed to accept. The council Tuesday night elected Lloyd Spencer and C. C. Spragins to serve with the mayor as a board of public affairs.

In his speech to the council, presenting a petition for lower light rates, Mr. Sullivan declared that while the Hope municipal plant is charging local consumers 10 cents per KWH, the Arkansas Power & Light Co. is charging cities of equal size only 7 cents per KWH. He also said that the municipal plant is selling current to the signal system of the Missouri Pacific for 3 cents per KWH, on a volume contract, and said it was his opinion that if the plant needed more equipment because it couldn't handle the present load, the contract with the railroad company ought to be canceled.

Mr. Carrigan spoke in a similar vein, advising against the purchase of any kind of expensive equipment at the present time, declaring that probably the same machine could be

Child Hurt During Storm Succumbs

William Earl Atteberry's Death Occurs 8 Days After Father's

LITTLE ROCK.—William Earl Atteberry, aged seven, who was injured critically May 8 in a cloudburst which took the life of his father, John T. Atteberry, died at 1:45 p. m. Monday in Baptist State hospital. Death was the result of a fractured skull received by the child when he was blown from a ledge by wind which accompanied the rainstorm.

The tragedy, which took the life of the father almost instantly and resulted in death of the son eight days later, occurred about 3 in the afternoon in the vicinity of Fort Rooks mountain. The son said later that he and his father were standing on a rock ledge when the storm broke. Both were blown from the ledge, the father falling into a stream and the child into a tree.

The father's body was found about a half hour later in a drainage ditch near West Twenty-seventh street between Pike and Railroad avenues. About two hours after his injury, the boy was found unconscious in the road near the back gate to the Veterans hospital grounds.

At the hospital, the child told of having been caught in the storm. Little hope for the boy's recovery was entertained at first, but the following day his condition had improved to such an extent that it was believed he would recover.

Condon, an elderly lecturer, is shown above as he left the Bronx, N. Y., court after a conference with police authorities. With him is his bodyguard, Al Reich (in background). Dr. Condon was the "Jafsie" of the newspaper advertisements, who sought to negotiate with the child's abductors through a series of cryptic newspaper advertisements. He has told police he can recognize the man to whom he made the "ransom" payment on the Lindbergh's behalf.

Ohio Child Stolen From Crib Is Soon Found by Parents

Is Discovered 500 Yards From Home Hidden Behind Rail Fence

IS SLIGHTLY INJURED

Parents Receive Three Demands for $500 During Recent Weeks

STEBENVILLE, Ohio.—(AP)—Half an hour after being stolen from his crib, two year old Eugene Swearingen, was found Tuesday night behind a rail fence, five hundred yards from the family home a Warrenon, near here it was revealed Wednesday morning.

He had a bruise over his left eye, but according to physicians who examined him, will recover.

The kidnaping followed three demands for $500, made upon the parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Swearingen.

All notes from the kidnapers were received about three weeks ago. It was reported to police.

Late Tuesday night the family heard a noise which they attributed to the family dog and did not investigate immediately.

Loss of $15,000 in Cotton Firm Blaze

Fire Discovered by Two Members of Detective Bureau

LITTLE ROCK.—Fire of undetermined origin discovered at 11:15 Tuesday night gutted the Dominion Textile Company, Ltd., cotton dealers, offices at 217 East Third street, causing a loss estimated at about $15,000.

Captain Martin and Sergeant Henson of the Detective Bureau, discovered the fire. They happened to be passing the building, Henson said, when they detected the odor of smoke. Almost at the same moment, a blaze flashed through the roof. Companies Nos. 2, 4 and 8 and trucks Nos. 1 and 2 responded to the alarm.

C. M. Owen, manager of the textile company, said some insurance was carried on the property.

The fire apparently started in the center of the building, a one-story brick structure which occupies almost a quarter of a block. Dense smoke issued from all windows and doors, handicapping the firemen. Chief Chas. S. Hafer and Assistant Chiefs Charles A. Burns and Joe Carmichael directed the firemen.

Mr. Owen said the Dominion Company's loss largely was in office fixtures. He said $500 would cover the loss of the cotton samples stored in the building. Most of the company's samples were kept elsewhere.

Smoke filled the Quapaw Printing Company plant, 213 East Third street, but Alfred H. Craig, owner, said no damage was done. A warehouse in the rear of the textile company office, formerly occupied by the Arkansas Transfer Company, was vacant.

The burned building, owned by Ad Hamberg, was insured.

G. C. Quillen of Monticello Comes in Contact With Live Wire

PORTLAND.—While repairing the line in the north part of town Tuesday, G. C. Quillen, aged 32, lineman for the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, was killed instantly by contact with an electric wire.

Walter Roach of McGee, working with Quillen, was injured seriously while attempting to rescue his friend. The two men were at work on adjoining poles. When a telephone line was cut in two, it came in contact with an electric wire charged with 13,000 volts of electricity.

H. L. Quillen of Pine Bluff, a construction foreman for the telephone company and a brother of the fatally injured man, would have been in charge of the Portland job had he not gone on his vacation Tuesday morning.

Quillen is survived by his wife, one child and a brother.

Hollywood Star Visits In Hope

Bert Wheeler, of Wheeler and Woolsey, Famous Comedy Team, Spends Night Here Enroute to New York—Promises to Appear on Stage Here on His Return Trip

Long after a majority of Hope residents were asleep Tuesday night, and before some of them were awake Wednesday morning, a noted screen celebrity, Bert Wheeler, in person arrived in town and departed. He in company with John Kelley, also of Hollywood, California, were en route from the West coast to New York, traveling over the Broadway of America.

They arrived in Hope about 11 o'clock, ate a lunch at the Checkered Cafe and spent the remainder of the night at the New Capital Hotel.

As soon as Elmer Hecht, manager of the Saenger theater heard Mr. Wheeler was in town, he immediately went to the Checkered Cafe and introduced himself to the well known actor.

Although very tired from his long drive, Mr. Wheeler accompanied Mr. Hecht to the Saenger. He expressed surprise at finding such a beautiful building in a town of this size and was very much impressed with Hope, he told the Saenger manager.

He told Mr. Hecht that in three or four weeks he would be going back to California and would arrange to give a personal performance as he came back through Hope.

The famous comedy team of Wheeler and Woolsey has been broken up, but we "really parted as friends" Wheeler said, in announcing the severance. Wheeler and Woolsey have recently finished a new picture, "Hold 'Em Jail," which is probably the last they will ever make together.

Barn and Contents Destroyed By Fire

H. W. Ferguson, Negro Farmer, Discovers Blaze Wednesday Morning

A frame barn, five miles northwest of Hope on the Columbus road, was destroyed by fire, which broke out between 1 and 2 o'clock Wednesday morning.

The blaze destroyed 125 bales of hay, 100 bushels of corn, 1 barrel of molasses, half-ton of fertilizer, one mule and a number of plow tools and other farm equipment.

H. W. Ferguson, negro, owner of the barn, said he awoke about 1:30 Wednesday morning and the blaze was in full blast then.

Water was poured on the Ferguson home, which was near by to prevent the blaze spreading to it. There was no chance of saving the barn nor any of its contents, Ferguson said.

No insurance was carried, and the fire, believed to be of incendiary origin, was a complete loss.

An official investigation by Sheriff Wilson will be made.

Senate to Vote On Beer Measure

Agreement Is Reached for Beverage Tax Action by 2 p. m. Wednesday

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—For the first time since national prohibition the Senate will express itself Wednesday on a proposal to legalize beer.

An agreement was reached Tuesday to vote before 2 p. m. on a plan by Senator Tydings, Democrat, Maryland, for a $1,600,000,000 public works program to be financed by legalizing 2.75 per cent beer and taxing it 24 cents a gallon.

The Marylander proposed it as an amendment to the $1,000,000,000 revenue bill, and in a two-hour speech urged its adoption as a means of forestalling suffering and want among the unemployed next winter.

Senator Sheppard, Democrat, Texas, a co-author of the Eighteenth amendment, replied that "no senator can vote for this amendment without violating his oath to support the constitution."

"If we do not act now," said Tydings, "when the snows of next winter fall it may be too late to act."

Asserting that community funds will not be sufficient to care for the unemployed, he asked: "Will they remain quiet, orderly and law abiding while they and their children suffer for the necessities of life?"

Referring to the two statements made previously by me in regard to Lindbergh case. At the present time I am sane but I honestly believe that for the last seven or eight months I have not been myself due to financial troubles."

"I desire to state that my remarks about the newspapers are true and can be verified. This in reference to my story about Mr. Haskell and Mr. Wilcox of the Herald Tribune."

Fear Lindbergh Negotiator Might Attempt Suicide

Officers Also Check Man's Movements on Night of Kidnaping

CAR IS INSPECTED

Condon Continues Search Among Rogue Gallery Photographs

NORFOLK, Va.—(AP)—The Norfolk Dispatch said Curtis requested Colonel Lindbergh to inspect the $50,000 in a Norfolk bank as evidence of good faith, and as a down payment on the ransom for the baby. The paper further declared that Dean Dobson Peacock flew to Hopewell March 28, to advise Lindbergh of the demand for the alleged kidnapers for "Farmer Money."

HOPEWELL, N. J.—(AP)—John Curtis, fake Lindbergh baby negotiator, was being watched closely Wednesday for fear renegade of conscience might tempt him to commit suicide, high official revealed.

His every movement is being watched. Norfolk police were also checking the movements of Mr. Curtis on the night of March 1, the night of the kidnapping.

Mrs. Curtis said that her husband was at home on that night. Mud scrapings from a green sedan owned by the bankrupt shipbuilder were taken to determine whether New Jersey mud had clung to the tires.

Meanwhile in New York, Parzyk, who said Tuesday that he was one of the kidnapers, was Wednesday in the story.

Meanwhile, Inspector Harold King of Naussau county, declared that an hour before Curtis confessed he was confronted in Hopewell with a Lindbergh bootlegger who charged him with having double-crossed him in a deal involving a large sum of money which Curtis was allegedly given up of for his influence in favor of the bootlegger with Norfolk authorities.

Dr. John F. Condon arrived at Mr. Vernon, N. Y., in company with three New York detectives to view the rogues gallery photographs.

Police later explained that they had placed a guard over Curtis on information from a Norfolk source, saying that Curtis attempted suicide there over financial difficulties.

Court Continues Official's Case

Ousted Stone County Treasurer Too Ill to Appear for Trial

MOUNTAIN VIEW.—After three jurors had been selected in circuit court here Tuesday to try T. P. Jefferson, ousted county treasurer, on a charge of malfeasance in office, it was reported to the presiding judge that the defendant was too ill to appear in court and the case was continued until next November. The malfeasance charge is a misdemeanor.

Jefferson and two other former Stone county officials have been convicted during the present term of nonfeasance charges, which automatically removed them from office. The others were Sam Johnson, former sheriff and collector, and John H. Gray, former county judge. All three gave notice of appeal to the Arkansas supreme court.

A civil suit against Johnson, through which the county hopes to recover approximately $12,000 which the former collector is alleged to have failed to pay into the county treasury, set for the present term of court, also was continued until next November. A felony indictment against Johnson was nolle prossed Tuesday morning as were other misdemeanor charges against Gray.

Court was presided over by Judge John L. Bledsoe of Fochontas, of the Sixth Judicial Circuit, in place of the judge of the Third circuit, S. Marcus Bone of Batesville.

A Thrill That Is Ever New

ONE of the most striking things in modern life is the intense, wistful interest with which the average citizen follows the news of the flights of the great dirigibles.

When the Akron fought her way through Texas storms recently, it was front page news: not that anyone really feared for the ship's safety, for the country is pretty well sold, nowadays, on the stability of those giant aircraft, but simply because there was an element of drama in the affair that no one could overlook.

Flying, in itself, is an old story by now. Children at play no longer look up when an airplane soars overhead. Ocean flights are taken for granted, and the men who perform them get only a thin and unenduring fame. The man who travels via a commercial air line hardly thinks it worth while to tell his friends about it afterward.

But the dirigible, somehow, is something else again. Perhaps it is the sheer size of the thing that gives it its appeal. The airplane, after all, is essentially bird-like. But to see a great dirigible rise and float effortlessly off partakes of the miraculous. It is like watching a hill detach itself from the earth and sail off into space. That men should be able to build something so vast and yet so light—that, somehow, is a marvel to which we cannot get used.

And this return, brings us a kind of release. We are earthbound, and we know it, most of us, all too well; but a ship like the Akron or the Los Angeles, floating among the clouds, seems to revive all of the old illusions, to persuade us that our prison house is not quite as escape-proof as it seems.

The experts can argue as they please about the relative virtues of dirigible and airplane. To most of us that makes little difference. We only know that there is a thrill to be got out of watching a big dirigible in the air that can be got in no other way.

The Demand For Graft

POLITICS being what it is, public servants land in criminal court every now and then. And once in a while such an event carries with it some very instructive information for the ordinary citizen.

Chicago recently convicted Daniel A. Serritella, former city sealer, and Harry Hochstein, formerly his deputy, of conspiring to cheat Chicago consumers out of some $54,000.00.

The two men had a very nice racket, and it worked like this:

Their job was to inspect scales, measures and the like used by grocers and butchers. Evidence presented at their trial showed that a lot of these merchants had the two officials on their payroll—and, in return, were permitted to use scales and measures that gyped the consumer.

The housewife who bought a pound of meat at the corner store really got only about 14 ounces. If she bought a peck of vegetables, the measure that was used had a phony bottom, so that she got less than she paid for.

It was done on a pretty extensive scale, too. Of 9000 short-weight complaints filed with Serritella during his term of office, only 1000 ever reached the city prosecutor. The rest were quietly smothered.

Now all of this is water over the dam, and the two officials have been laid by the heels so that they can't do any more harm. But the story is illuminating for the light that it throws on the source of rackets.

This particular bit of crookedness wasn't something that grew up from the underworld. It was bought and paid for by respectable citizens—by solid business men, who probably never dreamed that they were undermining the foundations of city government. In their idle moments these merchants probably complained because politicians were such a crooked lot.

And that it the way it is with a great deal of graft. Graft exists in answer to a demand; and the demand often comes from people who are supposed to be pillars of society. The racketeer and the crooked politician have their being because the rest of the community not only tolerates them but uses them. To root them out we shall have to remake a whole series of social attitudes.

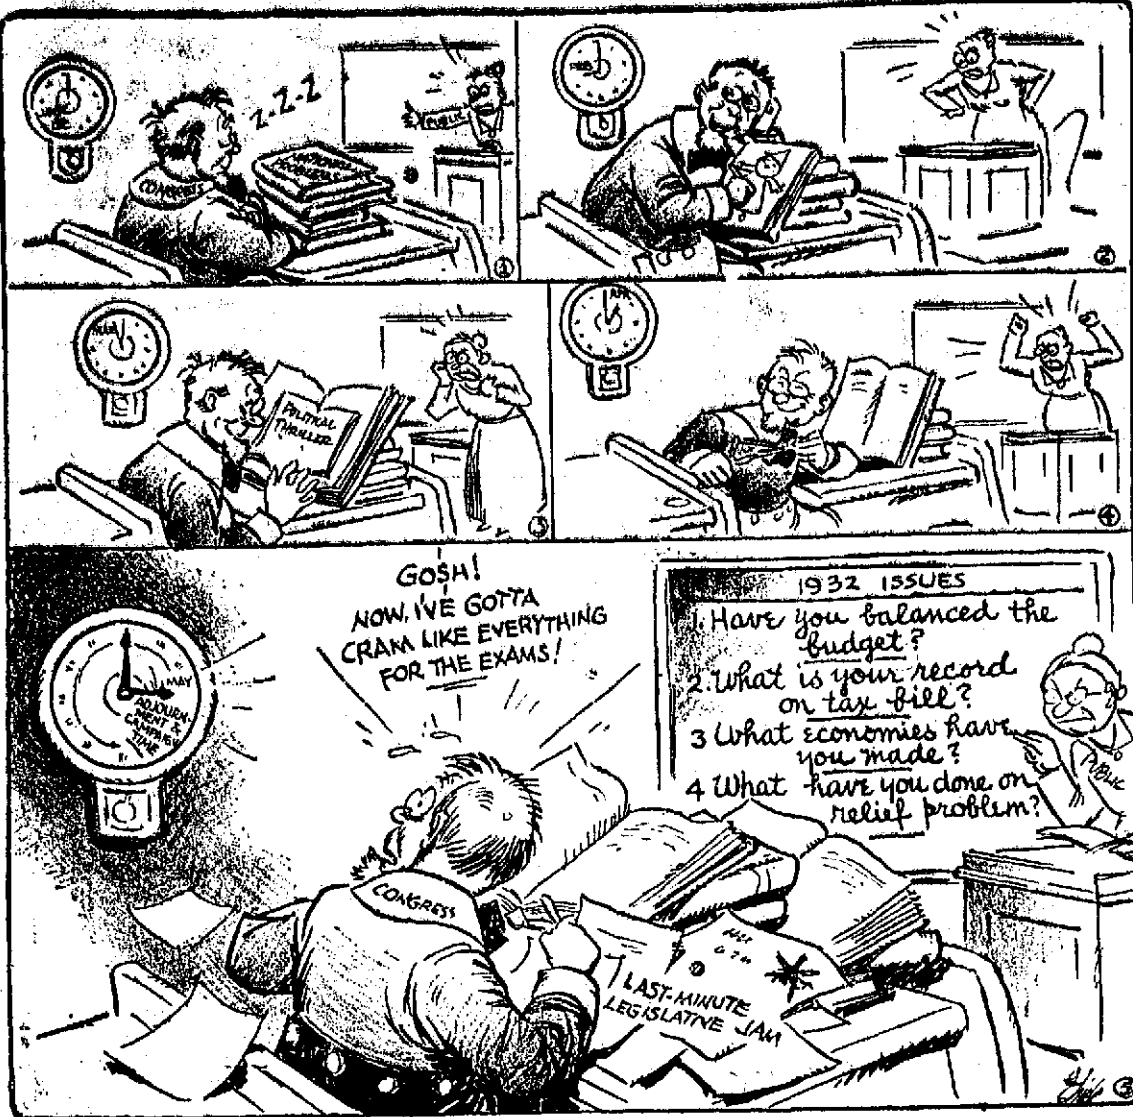

A Healthy Sign

A WASHINGTON correspondent, discussing developments in the Democratic pre-convention campaign the other day, remarked that there is in Washington "a growing feeling that the Chicago meeting will involve a fight over party principles as well as the struggle over the presidential nomination."

This is interesting, not so much for what it says as for the fact that its author found it worth saying at all. It implies quite clearly, you see, that party principles do not ordinarily come up for much discussion at the great party nominating conventions. They stay in the background, ignored by common consent, and today one who has not studied political history a bit can hardly tell the difference between the two parties.

The correspondent's forecast, then, is rather encouraging. If both parties would have "a struggle over party principles" every so often, our political life would be a whole lot healthier.

The Man—Not His Car

According to a brief article in The Safe Driver, a publication of the National Safety Council, about 90 per cent of all motor vehicle accidents can be charged to three things: Bad judgment, carelessness and stupidity. In a recent study of over a million motor accidents, it was found that the entire share of fatal accidents attributable to defects in the car amounted to only about 11 per cent, while for non-fatal accidents the car was defective in but 5 per cent of the cases.

In other words, 9 accidents out of 10 are the fault of the man who drives the car, and not the car itself. As Dr. Miller McClintock, of Harvard, has phrased it, the remedy is to convince man that he must live up to his car. When he reaches as high a degree of perfection in his driving as the modern automobile represents deaths on streets and highways will be due for a 90 per cent drop.

The modern highway is often congested. Traffic moves fast. There is no time for absent-mindedness, for a single instant of distraction from the job at hand. Everyone who drives an automobile should keep in the front of his mind the trinity of destruction: Bad judgment, carelessness, stupidity.—L. & A. Magazine.

She Reduced 38 Pounds The Safe Way

"I have been taking Kruschen Salts for 4 months and I think they are wonderful. I am 32 years old and 5 feet 2 inches tall. I was very fat. I weighed 165 lbs. and now I weigh 127 lbs. and feel fine. If I let up taking the Salts one morning I feel lazy and heavy," Mrs. Florence Loftus, Boston.

This is just one of hundreds of letters we get every month—Kruschen not only causes you to lose fat but while you are losing it you gain in health—in vivaciousness—you lose fat where fat is most prominent and at the same time keep stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels functioning naturally.

John S. Gibson Drug Co., or any druggist in the world will sell you a jar of Kruschen for a trifling sum—take one-half teaspoonful in a glass of hot water every morning—go light on fatty meats, potatoes and sweets. But for your health's sake demand and get Kruschen Salts—imitations are numerous. It's the little daily dose that does it. —Adv.

Letter Threatens 'Pretty Boy' Floyd

Note Says "Pretty Boy" to Pay for Murder of Brothers

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla.—(AP)—The vengeance of the underworld was threatened against Charles "Pretty Boy" Floyd, Oklahoma's "phantom outlaw" in a letter received Monday by authorities here from Pittsburgh, Pa.

The letter, addressed to "Oklahoma authorities," and delivered to the state bureau of criminal identification, warned that Floyd, wanted in several states for murder, would have to "cut that gun."

"Just to let you know you won't see much of your bad man, the pretty boy, after May or June, for I am out to get him and, if there is a reward you can have it," read the letter.

"He killed my two pals when I was in the pen," the letter went on. "They had no guns on them when he killed the Ash boys, who were my best pals and I swore he would pay."

Floyd was sought in connection with the slaying of William and Wallace Ash, brothers, in Kansas City. Their bodies were found in a ditch beside a burning automobile last March 25.

Vaccination Against Hog Cholera Started

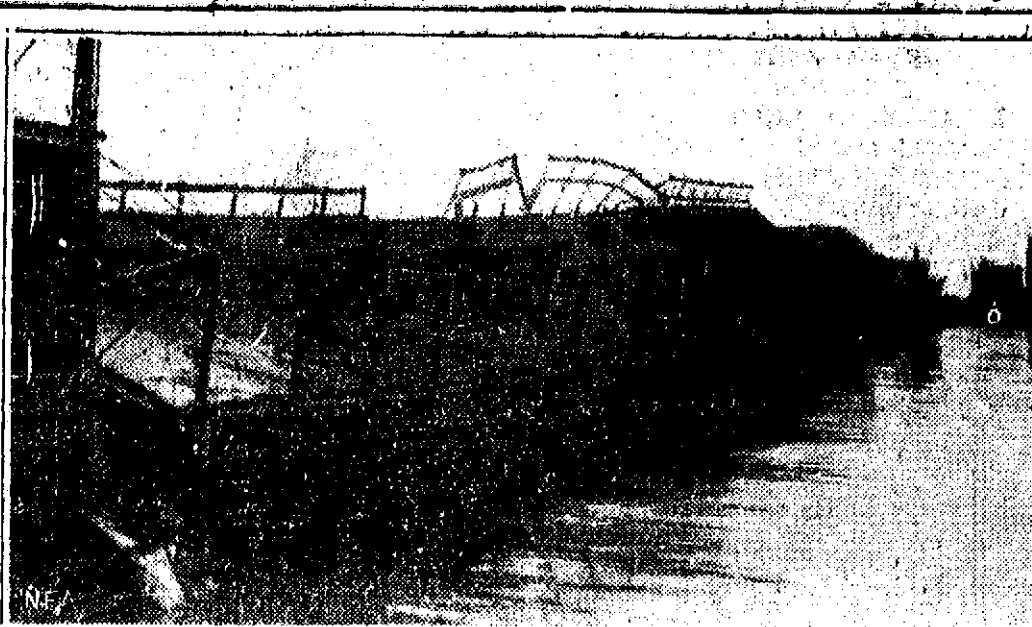

DEQUEEN, Ark.—A campaign of vaccination against hog cholera was inaugurated in the Rock Hill community, near Lockesburg, Saturday, by County Agent Charles U. Robinson, who gave a vaccinating demonstration in the farm of N. D. White. Several farmers attended the demonstration and will continue vaccinating all hogs in the neighborhood whose owners wish protection against cholera.

Several head of hogs have been lost in the Rock Hill community of a disease which is apparently cholera, the county agent said. No trace of the disease has been reported from any other section of the county, and a general outbreak is not feared, he added.

New York Pier After Fire That Burned Two Days

For 48 hours a blaze had raged under a Cunard Steamship Company pier in the Hudson River in New York. Fireboats, land apparatus and hundreds of firemen labored unavailingly, until the huge structure finally collapsed, as you see it in this picture. Damage amounted to at least $2,000,000. Scores of firemen were overcome by smoke. The only fatality was that of an architect, Ralph A. Kluge, who had designed the pier. He was killed by a swinging hose nozzle while watching the blaze.

bought much cheaper a year from now.

A remark by Mr. Sullivan characterizing the Missouri Pacific as a foreign corporation brought a reply from J. T. Conley, local railroad employee, who declared that his company pays more than $30,000 a year taxes in Hempstead county, half of which comes to the city of Hope. Mr. Conley went on to say that he had lived in other Arkansas cities, and found Hope the cheapest of all, with moderate electric charges, no occupation tax on the business men, and an auto license of only $2.50 a year, as compared with $5 elsewhere.

Wilkerson Oil Fight

In the final round of the battle over the Wilkerson oil station, O. A. Graves, attorney for Mr. Wilkerson, pointed out that his client only asked the council to delay passage of prohibitory legislation until it had time to inspect all gasoline stations in the city with a view to establishing definite regulations.

Mr. McFaddin, the opposing attorney, objected to further delay.

Mr. Wilkerson then took the floor in his own behalf, charging that he was being persecuted in the name of the big oil companies, and declaring that he had carried out all the recommendations of the National Fire Underwriters' association, so that the element of public safety was not concerned.

Mr. McFaddin retorted that the council then had on file a letter from the insurance companies' representatives declaring that insurance rates were high in Hope because this city had no ordinance regulating the unloading of gasoline from tank-cars "and other hazards."

Look for Letter
Mr. Wilkerson denied there was any such letter before the council. Mr. McFaddin asked the council to find it. Mayor Vesey searched his desk, and after some difficulty a letter was found which Mr. McFaddin identified as the right one.

This proved to be a letter from the Arkansas Fire Prevention Bureau, to which Mr. Wilkerson objected, on the grounds that what he was talking about was the national and not the state association.

Mr. Wilkerson told Mr. McFaddin that by "other hazards" the insurance companies meant "glass reservoirs in the type of gasoline pumps used at most service stations in Hope, such glass being easily broken and subject to fire and explosion."

"Why," said Mr. Wilkerson, "wasn't this regulated a long time ago?"

"The audacity of the gentleman from Louisiana," replied Mr. McFaddin, "was something that had never occurred to us."

"You mean," concluded Mr. Wilkerson, "the major oil companies never had demanded it."

Atkins Gives History
During a lull in the fireworks, W. S. Atkins, the city attorney, explained that when Mr. Wilkerson's plans were first presented to the attorney and the council, the city passed only on these matters specifically covered by ordinance. Tankage and type and number of the gasoline pumps, were covered, but there was no ordinance wrangle between Mr. Wilkerson and himself. The latter stated that Hope had been penalized all along, not only on the tank car hazard, but other hazards not regulated by city ordinance.

Lindbergs to Visit In Morrow Home

Will Return to Hopewell to Await Arrival of Another Child

ENGLEWOOD, N. J.—(AP)—There is a strong probability that Charles and Anne Lindbergh will come to the Dwight Morrow estate here for a short stay and then again take up permanent residence at their Hopewell home, it was learned Monday afternoon.

The Lindberghs themselves have not announced definite plans. Friends here point out they have scarcely had time to make any, since the long strain of their kidnapped baby's absence ended in the shock of learning of his murder, and plans in the filer's family usually precede action by a very small margin.

But the Lindberghs have not given serious consideration to living abroad. It was learned near Hopewell that workmen already are completing the drive leading to the Lindbergh house. Plans are going forward to have the slope leveled off in front of the house and made into an airplane landing field.

Meanwhile, the courageous couple never have relaxed entirely the lines of their normal life.

"We are living in an unreal world," Mrs. Dwight Morrow, Anne's widowed mother, told friends.

But Colonel Lindbergh has been consulted more than once by business associates in aviation affairs, and Mrs. as to direct unloading of tank cars into underground storage—and anything the council might have said without the legal authority of an ordinance, would have been of no greater weight than the opinion of any other private citizens, Mr. Atkins said.

Plans for Luther Hollamon's new service station at Third and Louisiana, which is to be leased to the Mouser Brothers, were presented to the council by T. C. Crosson, local contractor.

The council was in open session from 8 o'clock until 10, retiring into an executive meeting at the latter hour, and lasting until 11 o'clock.

One result reported from the executive meeting was that Marion Monroe had been selected by the aldermen, over Mayor Vesey's veto, to succeed Sing Mauldin as street commissioner, the change to take effect June 1.

Bono Youth Dies of Spinal Injury

Boy Is Hurt in Dive Into Shallow Hole Last Sunday

JONESBORO, Ark.—(AP)—Hiram Wade, 15, of Bono, near here, died at a hospital here Tuesday as the result of a spinal injury suffered in a dive into a shallow water hole in Cardon river Sunday.

Dentist Writes Obituary Then Commits Suicide

HOUSTON, Texas.—(AP)—Dr. Robert J. McGinnis, a retired dentist, killed an ambulance Monday and shot himself dead as it arrived, leaving an obituary written by himself.

The obituary followed the general style of those used by newspaper. Dr. McGinnis wrote that he was born in Alexandria, La., attended Louisiana State University, and practiced dentistry in Chicago before coming here. He listed among his surviving kinship a daughter, Mrs. H. W. Schmidt, of Louisiana, Ark., and a nephew, Martin Dunman of Alexandria.

Lindbergh, who was believed to be staying continuously at Hopewell, had made secret trips as often as once a week to the family home here.

Carried up like a sleeping child on the back seat of an automobile, she escaped glances of the curious en route. She has performed shopping errands in Englewood's business district and consulted her physician.

It is assumed the Lindberghs will be in Englewood until after birth of the baby expected in late summer. Charles Augustus Jr., was born here and before the family has been since Anne was said was born, except for the period when the late Senator Morrow was ambassador to Mexico.

Relatives are here, too; General J. J. Morrow, brother of the late senator; Mrs. Sheldon S. Yates, Mrs. Morrow's sister; and at present, her mother, Mrs. Charles Long Cutter, from Cleveland, who is staying with Mrs. Yates.

Mrs. Cutter is 87, and is so distressed with grief over the tragic death of her great grandchild she has been unable to see callers.

A GREAT gasoline can't be lopsided either. Figure it out yourself. Suppose it gives you mileage. Mileage is just one thing. No gasoline is economical when you pay for it twice—once when you use it, and again when you're paying hard-earned cash for new spark plugs, or reseating valves, or carbon removal. 1932 gasoline must have everything. "Standard" 1932 gasoline has everything!

It keeps your car on the road. Out of the repair shop. It saves you money. It gives you power when you need it, and a sweet engine.

Emerald Oil clears up every symptom of this distressing infection in two weeks' time, so use it freely. It is an antiseptic and seems to go right after the infection—into every pore, crack or wrinkle where it attempts to hide. Use the oil every night and morning—it isn't greasy and does not stain. If one bottle doesn't clear up your infection, you can have your money back. Ward & Son guarantees it. —Adv.

BUILD UP HEALTH and pains go away

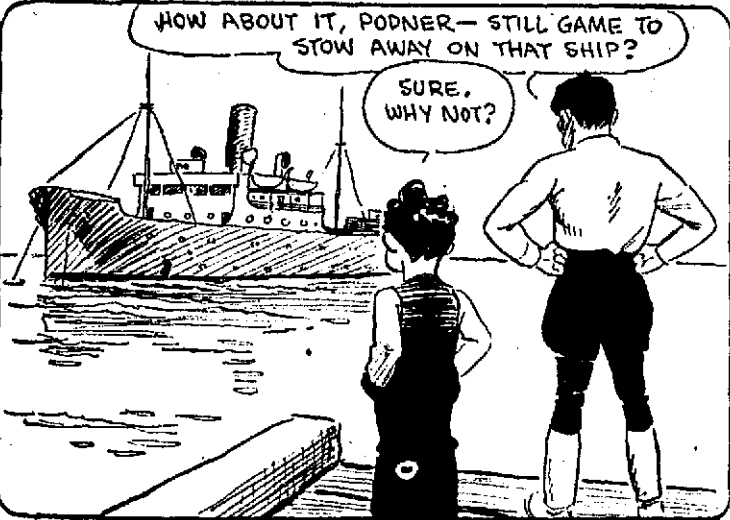

WOMEN who find themselves in a painful condition due to a run-down state of health should give Cardui a fair trial, for a reasonable length of time, as did Mrs. E. G. Hodnett, 1101 Hazel St., Texarkana, Texas, who writes: "I was anxious to build myself up so I could enjoy and take interest in my home. I had suffered with soreness and a constant pain in my side. My mother told me she thought I should try Cardui. Soon after I began taking it I noticed an improvement, so I kept on until I had taken three bottles. By this time I was feeling so much better, the pain and soreness were gone." Sold at drug stores.
